Dear Mr. Wilbur,

Thanks for your note and your offer of the return of WW I.

Because it was impossible for me to make an economical reprint and in order to have copies available I've arranged for a quality reprint by reducing xerox, with a durable binding, the same size as the original.

This is why the book in its present form is relatively expensive.

So, unless you have no further desire to keep it, thanks just the same.

If you decide to part with the book we'll save it for a student who cannot afford to buy one, our prior practise with damaged copies.

Thanks and best wishes,

Harold Hart
